“ I have few memories of my Aunt Anna May beyond my early childhood since we were seperated by circumstances of the times. But I will always remember her by stories my parents told me. I especially love the story of how she accompanied my mother on a train trip to California when my mother snuck off to marry my father. I can imagine the fun that two young women who were sister in laws must have had on a cross country train trip. I am happy that she is again with my Uncle Sam as they were meant to be RIP Auntie. Much love to you and your family.
