“ My grandmother Christine, aka "Ma", was such a sweet, loving, generous and compassionate person. I have many memories going to craft shows, shopping and lunch every Saturday with her, my mom Michelle, and my siblings Andrea and Danny. As a young pre-teen, I wanted to hang with my friends but I'm so happy that my mom encouraged me to go every weekend with them because now I have these precious memories to treasure in my heart forever. She absolutely loved Koala bears and almost every time we went out, she had found another knick knack or stuffed animal that was a koala to add to her growing collection. She ended up having to get curio cabinets to display them all because her collection continue to grow. She was always so prepared wherever we went with her. She would have snacks, water and all kinds of goodies for us kids, to keep us occupied on our outings. If I needed a pony tail for my hair, she would pull out a scrunchy. Headache? She would have some Tylenol. Nails needed attention, she would have a nail file in her big purse of course. She was also always on top of it when it came to remembering important dates of her loved ones like birthdays, anniversaries, Christmas, graduations, parties etc. She has always had a card box to send a greeting to everybody she loved and cared about. She had everybody's birthdays memorized. She was absolutely the most thoughtful person ever. She welcomed my husband Dan and stepdaughter Kaitlyn with open arms when they came into my life. She loved them like her own. Never judged and never compared and was always so forgiving. She never said anything bad about anyone. She seen the good in everyone. One of the most precious memories I hold very dear in my heart is when she met Her great granddaughter Layla. Her eyes lit up and she had the biggest smile on her face. She was glowing and she formed tears of joy at her precious great grand child. It was a priceless moment. I was able to capture a four generations picture of her, my mom Michelle, which is her first born child, myself, whom is the first born as well, and my Layla, my first born. I'm so grateful that Layla was able to meet her great grandmother. Many never get that chance. I count my blessings of all the wonderful times I had with Ma. I'm sure she skipping away up there in heaven, pain free and reuniting with her Mom and sister and all her other loved ones who have passed. We are all gonna miss her so much.

Ma, thank you for everything you have ever done for me and for teaching me so much. You're the best grandmother ever and the bond we shared was so strong. Not enough words or actions can show my gratitude and love I have for you. Rest easy Ma. I will always remember your voice saying "I love you more". I'm gonna miss hearing that, but when we meet again, I know I'll hear those words again. I love you more than words can say, my sweet Ma!
