“ Just hearing of this news. Very sorry for the families loss. I had her as a teacher in my sophomore year for geometry and she was a great teacher but just as nice a person. Very patient and a true professional when it came to the job. We had some great conversations throughout knowing her and she'll be missed for sure.

“ It's no secret that Mrs. Mondt was well loved in our community. Being a teacher gives you such unique outreach into the community to impact a lot of people in a short amount of time- and boy she did. For every memory she has, she made millions for others in the class, and being one of her students, I can definitely say she was incredible at her craft. My sincerest condolences to Fred, Freddy, Laura and family. Your wife and mom probably knew she was loved, and I hope the love we had for her, transfers tenfold for you in this difficult time and into the future. I will think of her every time we pull out our nativity set.

“ I will always carry special memories of Mrs. Mondt and the time spent in her class. She had a way of turning difficult lessons into moments of discovery, making learning feel not only possible but exciting. Her encouragement and belief in each of us built confidence that extended far beyond the classroom. What I will remember most, though, are the small acts of kindness—the patience in explaining a problem one more time, the smile that made us feel seen, and the genuine care they showed for every student. Mrs. Mondt was more than a teacher; she was an inspiration, and her positive influence will remain with me always. I am forever grateful for the lessons she shared and the impact she had on my life.

Deepest condolences to the Mondt family at this very difficult time.

“ To Mary Kay’s husband, children, grandchildren, sister, family and friends, please accept my sympathy on the loss of Mary Kay-we were classmates at St. Basil and in Girls Scouts together-reconnected through Facebook and the few St. Basil reunion picnics we had. She was one of the smartest girls in our class. Always kind. May God bless you all.
