He began his career in McCook, Illinois as a patrolman. In 1976 Mayor Tobolski was appointed Chief of Police. He served in the law enforcement capacity in the Village of McCook for 35 yers. He was a lifelong resident of the Village that he loved. In 2005 he was elected Mayor. As he always did with his family, he placed the needs of the citizens of McCook first by assisting the residents with anything that he could. He took great pride in bringing the residents back together. He was working diligently on the 47th Street Center Point Development to locate a good mix of light manufacturing and commercial retail cities. He recently announced the opening of a Wal-Mart Super Store at this location. Mayor Tobolski died suddenly on Saturday afternoon. He suffered an aneurysm of the aortic valve. His winning personality, genuine kindness and innovative ideas will be missed by all.
