“ Dear Barb,

You are my best and lifelong friend. Your friendship and faith amazes me. I wanted to say that my heart cries with you as well as for you. My soul grieves with you as well as for you. I love you Barb and I loved your mom. She seemed like my mom too when we were kids. Your mom had a sweet nature and good sense of humour. She was always kind to me. She also stuck up for me and protected me like I was her daughter. I will miss her always. I never told you this but a song came out in 1970 when we were just kids. Your mom and my mom were our troop's Girl Scout leaders, and I always thought the song was about your mom. Every time I heard it I thought of your mom and I know I will continue to do so.

*"Oh, but Love grows where my Rosemary goes
And nobody knows like me"*

I think everyone who knew her thought that "Loves grows where Rosemary goes." Know that you and your entire family are in my prayers. I pray that you have God's peace and you do not underestimate what He is capable of. I pray that you trust in Him as He brings you through all of this. I love you Barb, and I promise God has not forgotten your prayers.

Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and do not lean on your own understanding. ~ Proverbs 3:5

Love, Patty & Fred

“ Chris and Mike, please accept my deepest sympathy on the passing of your Mom. I am keeping her and your entire family in my prayers. God bless.

I am happy that I met your Mom many years ago. I will always think of her when I make her delicious Cranberry Cake, with the recipe written by her. It is fool-proof, delicious recipe that has been shared to everyone who has tasted it when I've baked it. It's become quite the holiday tradition in our family. I remember how your Mom told me any fruit could be used instead of the cranberries, but I've only made with the fresh cranberries - why mess with perfection!

I am sorry you have a difficult journey ahead. Take time to grieve, but be sure to make time to celebrate and remember your Mom's life. Not a day goes by that I don't chat with my Mom in heaven. You, too, have a very special angel watching over you now. Your Mom is always as close as your heart.

I am sorry I cannot be there on Monday, but I hope you will feel in some small way a healing hug sent your way.
