“ I am so sorry to hear of Bill's passing. I have so many fond memories of all the times we sat and talked about repairing cars, building almost anything (and he could build anything from scratch), electronics, and tools.

I remember being around 12 years old living on 38th street in Chicago.
There Bill would be washing his little orange import in the street. I'd stand there watching and asking questions about his car. He could have told me to get lost after all he was eight years older than me. But he just went about washing it and talking with me like we were brothers. That's how I remember him.
